

What is Value Worth to You?

Paul Vick architects have Won:
Best Architecture Firm in the
Awards for Global Excellence 2017

Proposal for St.Pauls Knightsbridge

What is Value Worth to You?

It may sound strange, but one of the main questions that architects and clients have to ask themselves is 'Where does the project value lie?' And this is not always as obvious as it sounds. Value is not purely couched in historical valuation but also a future vision.

Whether the value of the project is for improvement now or future investment, an architecture that is tailored to your needs delivers you much, much more.

We've just won Best Architecture Firm in the Global Excellence Awards 2017 (Acquisition International) and we thought you might be interested in how our approach works day to day.

Value Enhancement and Inspiration

There are six measurable ways our architecture adds value to property investment. This applies to commercial, cultural and residential projects. They are:

There is a magic when these six values are met, and together with our clients, we develop solutions that address these values to create inspirational architecture. This emphasis on key values allows your project to deliver high-value intensity and focus your resources.

Planning

The practice has a game-changing approach to planning and we still hold a 100% success record on over 100 projects with Listed and new build. Our planning approach is key to helping your project reach this fruition because without permission, the project is blocked. Of course, funder confidence soars when planning is achieved.

Obtaining Grant Funding

There are many routes to obtaining funding to achieve your vision.

Paul Vick is presenting at a series of workshops on obtaining Grants and Heritage Lottery Funds on - Wednesday 29th March 10am - 2pm Museum of Manchester, Manchester, Monday 27th March, 10am - 2pm Arnolfini Arts Centre, Bristol Tuesday 4th April, 10am - 2pm, St.Paul's Centre, Cambridge.

Please contact us to check availability.

The judges of the Global Excellence Awards said:

Paul Vick architects have a refreshingly new approach to legacy – whether this is obtaining value for clients, interpreting clients' architectural needs and always looking to make the cultural element relevant for today and tomorrow. From a Vision for the Diocese of London to a commercial solution to low energy, to producing highly technical work and effective planning permissions, the practice demonstrates a high level of flexibility and innovative thinking.

We are featured on RIBA London Pavilion Stand at MIPIM Cannes 14th- 17th March 2017.
Please contact us to arrange a meet up with Paul.

