'Paul Vick Architects consistently delivers added value with a creative global view of their clients' needs,' the judges said.

'Unusual perhaps for visionary architects, they achieve this with their particularly engaging approach to understanding their clients' business values in cultural and commercial settings, as well as a tailored approach to private work. To date, their approach has delivered a 100% planning permission rate, ensuring clients secure the potential value of each project.

'This approach is client focused from the start to ensure an outcome which meets the customer's individual needs. Initially, Paul Vick Architects discuss the client's business aims and the types of value they are trying to achieve. This is often accompanied by directed research. Paul Vick architects take their wider architectural, urban and artistic viewpoint and tailor a vision to achieve more with less space and resource for their clients.'
