

The most connected place in the world

Paul Vick architects wins
Property and Construction Business of the Year
West London Business Awards 2022

Image: Connectivity. Glass bridge for a global telecoms HQ, West London, physically connects two of its offices, reducing the number of receptions, and lights up at night. Refectory, various office formats, new reception and an addition were also part of the brief to enhance connection at work. Photo: Paul Vick.

We are honoured and humbled to win an award (and a half!) from West London Business. This important moment for us leads us to reflect that in all the intensity of the day to day and its challenges it is vital to remind ourselves we are all part of a bigger community and share so much ground.

West London, 'the most connected place in the world', contains some of the most vibrant businesses and opportunities as we all try to carve out a sustainable future. Many great businesses and organisations come to mind eg in and around Heathrow, Chiswick Park, Segro, Imperial College and Brunel who were all present at the ceremony. At the same time, SMEs are the life blood of this country and it was amazing to see support from the 350 attendees including councillors (including Ruth Cadbury MP, Lord Young and councillor Muhammed Butt) at Twickenham Stadium, with Annabel Croft as awards host.

And, in another example of connection - in this case a personal one - we were presented the award by Westfield, where as a younger professional I was project managing architect for the original development at Shepherd's Bush.

The jurors specifically highlighted the practice's sustained commitment to low energy design, its mixed use regeneration and masterplanning work as well as its implementation with 100% planning permission record with new build and listed buildings. We were also highly commended for resilience, and I would like to thank all our clients and my team as well as all others who continue to help through these really challenging times. It has been interesting and not always easy as the shape of our economy and our world priorities change.

Paul Vick architects have won Property and Construction Business of the Year 2022 and was highly commended for Resilient SME Innovator of the Year 2022 at West London Business Awards

Paul Vick architects brings you 100% planning permission record with new and existing buildings giving you the confidence your project can be successful and profitable.

Paul Vick architects will be at The Property Fair, MIPIM, Cannes on the RIBA stand in the London Pavilion
15-17th March 2022.

Call us to arrange a meeting at, before or after the event.

Paul Vick Architects has won:
Property and Construction Business of the Year 2022
Most Innovative Architecture Firm London 2020, 2019 and 2018
Best Cultural Architecture Practice UK 2019
Best Construction Adviser UK 2017

See www.paulvick.co.uk/newsletters for more information or Contact us.
t: +44 (0)20 7993 6573 e: paulv@paulvick.co.uk w: www.paulvick.co.uk click for Movies.

Copyright © 2020 Paul Vick Architects, All rights reserved.
